

THE ABIGAIL DOLL AND THE NANCY HANKS DOLL are now in this exhibit in the Smithsonian, the American Enterprise, located in the Mars Hall of American Business at the National Museum of American History. American Enterprise is the Smithsonian's first major exhibition highlighting the essential role of business and innovation in forming the American experience. This exhibition traces the development of our nation from a small, agriculturally dependent society to a world-leading economic power by exploring the themes of opportunity, innovation, competition, and the common good.

Smithsonian
National Museum of American History
Kenneth E. Behring Center